RE: Whirlwind Exploration Drilling Project Partial Bond Release

Dear Mr. Rogers:

The Moab BLM Field Office has completed Native American Consultation for the construction of six ventilation shafts for the Whirlwind Mine. None of the Tribes consulted had questions or concerns regarding the project. We realize that Energy Fuels has temporarily postponed mining however, when operations begin and the financial surety for the ventilation shafts has been filed with the Utah Division of Oil, Gas and mining, Energy Fuels may proceed with the ventilation shaft construction as proposed in the Whirlwind Mine Plan dated March, 2008. This authorization is per the Decision Record - Findings of No Significant Impact for the Whirlwind Mine Uranium Mining Project (CO-130-2008-024-EA) that was signed in September 2008.

Please contact Rebecca Doolittle at (435) 259-2141 if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

/s/ A. Lynn Jackson

RE: Whirlwind Exploration Drilling Project Partial Bond Release

Dear Mr. White:

On December 22, 2008 the BLM received your request to release the full financial surety amount of $54,000 for the Whirlwind Exploration Drilling Project. We inspected the reclamation on June 25, 2008 and did find that the drill locations had been fully reclaimed and seeded. After consultation with the Division of Oil, Gas and Mining we have agreed to release $48,600.00 of the bond amount and will retain $5,400 for vegetation success. We will re-inspect the project area in spring 2009 to evaluate the growth. Because of the success we have seen so far, we expect to be able to release the remaining bond money after the spring inspection.

Please contact Rebecca Doolittle at (435) 259-2141 if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

/s/ A. Lynn Jackson
